Fundraisers

There are several opportunities offered throughout the marching season to help supplement fee payments. These include fundraisers such as Georgia peaches, mums, and working in concessions. Profits from select fundraisers are split between the band and the student. The band receives 25% of the profits and the student receives 75% of the profits toward their band fees. For example Peaches Full Flat $25- Total profit $12.50 - student credit $9.38 and band credit $3.12. Some fundraising events are held for the general Band of Gold fund. This will be made clear at the beginning of each fundraiser.

Spirit wear such as band shirts, band gear bags, etc. will typically be available for purchase at the beginning of June with delivery in July. Watch for future emails detailing this year's items.

Band Meals

- During band camp and on weekends, students are encouraged to eat a light breakfast prior to practice. This is especially important on days when the weather is hot, so your student does not get sick.
- The Band Boosters/Meal Committee provides dinner to students before all football games at a cost of $5. Band meals consist of an entrée, salad, fruit, dessert, and water or juice. Specifics are communicated weekly via email.
- During 12-hour practice days, the Band Boosters/Meal Committee provides one meal to students at the cost of $5. This meal consists of the same items as mentioned above. Students will need to bring a sack meal, or parents are welcome to drop off a meal during the break period.

Heat-Related Illness

Marching Band students spend a significant amount of time practicing and rehearsing outside. All marching band-related competitions and performances also occur outside. Our instructors are very cognizant of the temperatures and encourage frequent water and rest breaks.

However, starting to drink water on the day of practice or competition is too late. It is our job as parents/guardians to encourage and educate our children on the importance of hydrating early and often (with water).

Included for your reference is some information pertaining to heat-related illness. In almost all cases this can be prevented through appropriate hydration.

What is heat-related illness?

A result of your body overheating. In hot weather, your body cools itself mainly by sweating. The evaporation of your sweat regulates your body temperature. However, when you exercise strenuously or otherwise overexert in hot, humid weather, your body is less able to cool itself efficiently.

Signs and Symptoms

Signs and symptoms of heat exhaustion may develop suddenly or over time. Heat-related illness is more common in hot temperatures with high humidity and strenuous physical exercise. Heat-related illness is also more likely with dehydration. Heat-related illness can range from mild to severe.

1. Mild (Heat Cramps):

- Heavy Sweating
- Painful muscle spasms during activity or hours later
- Develop heat rash
- Feeling irritable, dizzy, or weak

2. Moderate (Heat Exhaustion):

- Heavy sweating
- Cold, moist, pale, or flushed skin
- Feeling very weak or tired
- Headache
- Nausea
- Lack of appetite
- Rapid and/or weak pulse
- Painful muscle cramps

3. Severe (Heat Stroke) – Call 911 or go to the Emergency Room Immediately!

- Not sweating
- Hot, dry skin that looks red, gray, or bluish
- Deep, fast breathing
- Headache
- Nausea
- Rapid, weak, or irregular pulse
- Dizzy, confused, or delirious
- Fainting
- Convulsions or shaking movements

Prevention

The following are ways to prevent heat-related illness:

- Hydration – encourage more fluids than normal
- Frequent rest breaks during exercise or physical activity
- Loose fitting clothing

- Spray cool water on skin
- Hats/visors
- Shaded areas

Treatment

Heat Cramps: You usually can treat heat cramps by drinking fluids or sports drinks containing electrolytes (Gatorade, Powerade, others), getting into cooler temperatures, such as an air-conditioned or shaded place, and resting.

Heat Exhaustion:

- Rest in a cool place. Getting into an air-conditioned building is best, but at the very least, find a shady spot or sit in front of a fan. Rest on your back with your legs elevated higher than your heart level.
- Drink cool fluids. Stick to water or sports drinks.
- Try cooling measures. If possible, take a cool shower, soak in a cool bath, put towels soaked in cool water on your skin, mist the skin, stand in front of fans, or use cold or ice packs. Place ice packs on the neck, chest, forehead, and underarms.
- Loosen clothing. Remove any unnecessary clothing and make sure your clothes are lightweight and nonbinding.

If you don't begin to feel better within one hour of using these treatment measures, seek prompt medical attention. Untreated, heat exhaustion can lead to heatstroke, a life-threatening condition.

Heatstroke: Call 911! Heatstroke requires immediate medical attention.
